Employer Candidate Search

1. Introduction

1.1 Geographic Solutions' Learning Center

Transcript:

Welcome to the Learning Center. In this video, we will demonstrate how employers can search for qualified candidate résumés in the system.

Let's take a closer look at how employers search for résumés.

Please note, our actual system settings and options may differ from those shown in the video.

The system provides thousands of résumés for review. No matter the open position, there will be job seeker résumés available to perform the tasks necessary to be successful.

For security, employers must be registered and workforce staff must validate the registration before employers can review specific candidate information.

System-registered employers are called preferred employers. The steps discussed in this video pertain only to these employer users.

There are multiple ways you can search for résumés. You can start by going to the left navigation menu.

Click the Candidate Search link in the Quick Menu, although any Candidate Search location will work. When the screen refreshes, you can search for résumés using several different options.

Let's review each of these methods and conduct a typical résumé search.

These are the search options available to conduct a résumé search:

The Quick Search is the fastest way to locate résumés. It allows you to combine a few common résumé search criteria together. The search results will often find many résumés to review.

The Advanced résumé Search is much more granular. It provides a more concentrated approach by allowing you to rank and filter results.

The Job Order Résumé Search allows you to select a job order and use specific information from that job order to match résumés.

The Résumé Number Search displays résumés that match a résumé number or partial number that is entered. This is a quick way to retrieve a résumé if you saved the number.

The External Résumé Search will give you direct access to outside résumé resources that may contain additional résumés.

Transcript:

Let's start with the Quick Résumé Search by clicking Candidate Search in the Quick Menu.

There are a limited number of search criteria with the Quick Search.

First, select a Desired Work Location. To change the location, click on the current location. This creates an Area Type drop-down, where you can change your area. You can also change your area search using maps from a link on the left.

Next, search for résumés by keyword. Keywords are usually occupations, or you can enlarge the search by selecting an occupation group.

Additional search options exist, such as Education, Salary, last modification date, Veteran status and other sources. You should be prepared to see dozens of résumés with this basic criteria.

The Advanced Résumé Search is the most comprehensive candidate search in the system. Search criteria can be combined to fine-tune your résumé results.

These search methods include a ranking approach, where you can look for résumés using criteria you identify as either required or desired. A desired search will locate specific search criteria plus other résumés that are close but not exactly the criteria you are looking for.

There is also a filtering criteria section. This takes information from the résumé and allows you to search for candidate résumés that have those characteristics.

Finally, you can search for résumés by residential location, which is especially useful when the job requires candidates to live in a specific location.

Employers will retrieve fewer résumé results from this search even if just a few search criteria are combined.

The External Résumé Search will assist you in locating résumés outside of your system. Situations may occur, based on the job order qualifications, where finding candidates may be difficult. This search includes multiple links to other candidate résumé websites.

You will have to follow the rules of these other websites but it provides a direct connection to sites, such as CareerBuilder and Monster, from within your system.

When you are finished working on an external site, simply close the window to return to your system.

The Detailed Search option provides more information up front, and it includes some of the same links as the Summary View.

In Detailed View, there is a link to view the résumé. Under the Action column, the tabs associated with the Details tab in Summary View are expanded so that you can select only the candidate information you truly want to see. This can save time when making decisions whether to contact a candidate or not.

If you click on Details directly in the header, it allows you to sort the candidates multiple ways, such as Educational Level, Desired Salary, and other information, in ascending or descending order.

Click the Sort button to change the order.
